The South Carolina (SC) Wing had the second largest number of awards among region wings at the Middle East Region (MER) Conference on 26 April 2008.

Major Lavonne Adams won as Drug Demand Reduction (DDR) Officer of the Year. First Lieutenant Shawn Gloria won as Logistics Officer of the Year. Major Mike Reynolds won as Communications Officer of the Year. And the SC Wing won as DDR Wing of the Year.

Colonel Charles Glass, Interim MER Commander said, "South Carolina always comes to the top in honors. The Middle East Region is proud of the quality of the members in the South Carolina wing and their commitment to the missions of the Civil Air Patrol.

"These honors, in competition with the other wings in the region, are the work not only of these individuals but of the cadets and seniors who support these members in doing their work", said Colonel Emerson Smith, the SC Wing Commander.
