PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Member Development Opportunities at WV Wing Conference on 10 October:

Commanders, cadets and senior members in the South Carolina Wing, you are cordially invited and encouraged to attend the West Virginia Wing Conference 2020.

Join our neighbors to the north, as well as others across the region and the country, for the historic, virtual 2020 West Virginia Wing Conference. Like most of the wing conferences in the Mid-Atlantic Region, WV Wing is going virtual this year due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Join WVW in celebrating 79 years of service to its communities, state and nation.

Sign up now to gain more training, knowledge and exposure to our programs. The seminar sessions will help advance your understanding of Civil Air Patrol's mission, goals and procedures. However, the most important time during this event will be rewarding our fellow members on their achievements throughout the year. This year, WV Wing will be honoring Maj David M. Giltinan, who served as the first WV Wing Commander during World War II, with The Congressional Gold Medal posthumously for his service.

There will also be a special treat for all attendees. The conference speaker this year is Maj Brian Shul, USAF (Ret), who was an SR-71 "Blackbird" pilot and author of the book Sled Driver. If you've ever heard the "LA Center, Speed Check, Please" story, this is the pilot who originally told the story—and it's all true. And if you haven't heard the story, be sure not to miss it this time!

Do you need credit for attending a conference? Members seeking conference credit must register, attend at least three seminars and then fill out the critique form. An attendance critique link will be sent out to all registered attendees at a future date.

OPERATIONS

Flight Operations:

COVID-19 Phase 1 means we can conduct limited flight training; the priority for scheduling remains Form 5 and Form 91 recertification flights, mission pilot (MP) and airborne photographer (AP) training, then all other training. At this time the crew should be limited to two persons. All transport and mission pilots are cleared and encouraged to conduct their Form 5. Funding expires at the end of September. Check in with timothy.coolidge@scwgcap.org for details.

Ground Team Training:

There is a need for ground team members, leaders and points of distribution (POD) team members to support a growing mission need.

If you are an expiring or aspiring ground team member would like to be included in some on-line training, please email erick.nason@scwgcap.org for details and links to the training.

If you are interested in the POD training, please complete the FEMA course at:

<https://training.fema.gov/is/courseoverview.aspx?code=IS-26>. You can email adrian.carnes@scwgcap.org for details or provide Maj Carnes with your course certificate when finished.

AEROSPACE EDUCATION*Join the Director of Upcoming Lunar Mission On Line this Wednesday, 7 October:

Virginia Wing has shared a fantastic aerospace education opportunity. See details below. MAKE SURE THAT YOU REGISTER NO LATER THAN this SUNDAY, OCTOBER 4.

Something very special is coming in July of 2021. For the first time since the Apollo era in the early 1970s, America will land a spacecraft on the surface of the moon. Now being built by a company in Pittsburgh named Astrobotic, the Peregrine lunar lander is on track to become the vanguard in a long series of lunar missions, both robotic and human. That landing in July will open a new era in space flight that will see our nearest celestial neighbor become a hub of permanent human activity.

Virginia Wing is very pleased to announce that Sharad Bhaskaran, Astrobotic's Mission Director, will be appearing on line for a presentation on this and other upcoming lunar missions. And you have an opportunity to ask him a question! Join us on line this Wednesday, 7 October, from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m., to hear what is sure to be a fascinating presentation by this history-making leader in aerospace.

All attendees must RSVP no later than Sunday, 4 October 2020, on the form found at:

https://forms.office.com/Pages/ResponsePage.aspx?id=SKCcygTBpEupSRqMkhNe\_WvjiDIprJNEsfWrbIUWs\_zpUQ0U5Q0FUT0RHTlpBRjhTTkICSzZBOEFFUyQIQCN0PWcu. If you would like to ask a question, please coordinate with 2d Lt John Douglas, Burke Composite Squadron, at john.douglas@vawq.cap.gov, by Saturday, 3 October 2020.

More information about Astrobotic's Peregrine lander may be found at <https://www.astrobotic.com/peregrine>.

CADET PROGRAMS*Training Leaders of cadets (TLC) Course Planned 10 – 11 October:

Registration is now open for the upcoming Basic and Intermediate TLC course being offered via Microsoft Teams October 11 – 12. TLC is the premiere venue for cadet program officers and other senior members to learn how to become better mentors of cadets and more effective managers of cadet squadrons. This is a course for senior members only. Classes will run from 0830 to 1600 hrs. Point of contact is 1st Lt Norwood Bodie, norwood.bodie@scwgcap.org. ### SARTECH III/FUNSAR and/or SARTECH II:

If your certification is expiring, Capt Erick Nason can renew your certification, but you would be required to pay the NASAR fee ($65.00 for non-members; $30.00 for members).

Based on when the wing can enter Phase II, he is willing to run a FUNSAR/SARTECH II course in the future. If interested in either renewing or getting the certification, let Capt Nason know (erick.nason@scwgcap.org)

ICS-300 Virtual Course:

Persons interested in completing an ICS-300 course virtually please notify Lt Col Peterson, South Carolina Wing Vice Commander – Operations, ASAP.

ICS-300, Intermediate ICS for Expanding Incidents, is one of the best courses you can take for mission management. It provides training and resources for personnel who require advanced knowledge and application of the Incident Command System. This course expands upon information covered in the ICS-100 and ICS-200 courses. ICS-300 is a requirement to serve as branch director on a CAP mission, either ground or air. It is also required for completing several other mission staff positions (operations section chief, planning section chief, logistics section chief, finance/administration section chief, CUL etc.) as well as the senior level in some specialty tracks (MRO, PAO etc.).

The course will be held on line in October. That is about the extent of the details that are currently available. Exact dates will be announced once they have been established.

Point of Contact: Lt. Col. Chris Peterson, (843) 224-1074, chris.peterson@scwgcap.org.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Request Link Created for New SC Wing Email, Teams, Office Apps:

SC Wing's IT staff have added a new web page for requesting South Carolina Wing Microsoft 365 accounts. All new scwgcap.org accounts can be requested by navigating to <http://newaccount.scwgcap.org>.

The South Carolina Wing Office 365 accounts will grant access to on-line versions of the Microsoft 365 Suite, including Teams (meetings and collaboration, document storage), Excel, PowerPoint and Outlook (e-mail).

Please read the instructions carefully. You must be an active member of SC Wing to obtain an account with scwgcap.org. Accounts can usually be approved within less than 24 hours.

DO NOT use this form if you have previously requested a scwgcap.org account. If you need help accessing a previously requested account, reach out to your local unit's IT officer, who serves as the designated "help desk" for the unit, or send an email to the wing's IT Help Desk/IT Team at itteam@scwgcap.org or.

New hubCAP Project Looking for Apps Developed by Members, for Members:

If you haven't heard, there is a project called hubCAP. This project is an opportunity for all members to put forward self-developed applications for use by the members, rather than NHQ information technology department. They can be anything from a custom program to a macro enabled spreadsheet. Most IT officers have backgrounds in computer sciences and likely have some programming experience, but there are likely many other CAP Members who have expertise in this area.

If you are aware of anyone who has developed an application that helps CAP members in your locale, please ask them to submit it to the hubCAP application. This application is available for everyone, seniors and cadets alike.

These applications are reviewed by members of the Technical Advisory Group (TAG) and passed to NHQ for use by all CAP members. The best applications come from actual users identifying a need and creating a solution. The hubCAP application can be found in eServices under Information Technology, or by following the link here.

Civil Air Patrol comprises a very diverse group, drawing from every corner of professionals, trades and service people. Everyone has a unique quality and are willing to share that quality to make CAP a better place to volunteer your service. It would be wonderful if everyone in the region who has developed anything that can help your fellow CAP members would go to the hubCAP site and upload their creation. Submission is a simple process. The TAG has two review days per month and a quick turnaround time.

National Commander Major Gen Mark Smith showcased hubCAP as the cornerstone of the Innovation Program at this year's virtual national conference. Since a conference is a prerequisite to advancement in IT, this is an opportunity to attend a conference and check that box needed for advancement without traveling or paying the cost for a conference.

HISTORY CORNER

Fire Service Support in the Early Years:

As you have seen in the news lately? Wildfires out west have become a major concern once more as thousands of acres burn. A major challenge is accurate location and vectoring of fire resources to the fire.

This was the same issue facing CAP back in 1946. Pilots starting to fly forest patrol missions found out immediately that the job was not one of simply taking off, flying around the countryside and then returning to base. Here was employment of the airplane for a specialized mission, requiring specially trained personnel. Terrain familiarization became an all-important task and requirement for the aircrews. Spotting a fire was one thing, but spotting it accurately and being able to direct others to the blaze was another. Pilots and observers had to know every section of the forested areas over which they patrolled. This meant study and more study on the ground, becoming intimately familiar with their search areas.

Along with fire spotting and terrain familiarization, aircrews had to become proficient in air-to-ground communications. They had to know a multitude of signals and radio procedures that facilitate air-ground and ground-air communication. The forest service crews had to know what a CAP plane meant when it rocked its wings or wiggled its tail, and a pilot had to know what was up when a man on the ground waved his arms horizontally or went into an Indian war-dance.

Radio procedures were important for relaying the most information in the shortest possible time. This meant the use of code words being added to the established procedures outlined in C.A.A. regulations. However, there were occasions when using the radio was less practical than using the other available form of contact with the ground: dropping messages to the ground teams from the air. When an observer from the air spotted a small brush fire, for instance, and then saw someone on the ground in the vicinity, he would swoop low and drop a message directing the man to the fire. Thousands of acres of valuable timber were saved by dropping messages, not only in Texas but in the other states as well.

CAP smoke-chasers have had another job to do—a really important job—which was preventing fires before they start. The very presence of the patrol planes was often a deterrent against fires ignited by local people. Hunters at campfires and farmers burning brush or grass appeared to be less careless when they knew the first sign of smoke was being watched from above.

This was a definite aid toward the elimination of individual carelessness, but was another menace to deal with in the prevention of fires: the deliberate firebug. Arsonists had no love for the CAP patrolmen. On several occasions, fire-setters were surprised from the sky in the act of kindling blazes and were subsequently captured through the efforts of CAP aerial spotters.

Unit Patches Still Needed for CAP History:

Capt Erick Nason, SC Wing Historian, is still looking for unit patches. Please send two copies of your unit's patch to Erick Nason, 1860 Barnwell Dr., Sumter SC 29154, so he can update the wing and national archives with patches from SC Wing squadrons.

Community Service Announcement:

Revolutionary War Field Days, in partnership with Liberty Live Studios, is hosting the 240th anniversary of the Battle of Camden—and they are looking for volunteers. Sumter Composite Squadron has supported them in the last two years, providing support in the form of crowd control and parking support. This, in turn, allows our volunteers free access to the event to see and be immersed in the history.

The site is a private farm of 500 acres, so there is plenty of open room. Depending on where the wing is by November concerning Phase I or Phase II, we would like to also invite other squadrons to see if they would be interested in supporting this historical event.

There will be over 400 reenactors on the field, both Patriots and British forces, with infantry, militia, riflemen, artillery and cavalry encamped at the field. In addition to food vendors, there will be shops/sutlers that sell period items. Camping is available for any unit that would like to practice ES skills. Depending on where we are at, Sumter may be submitting an exception to policy to support this event.

If you are interested or have questions, please contact Capt Erick Nason at erick.nason@scwqcap.org.
